AGRA: Calling for further metro rail in India, Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath today said the state is "ready to give two broad heads to get the metro rail system across the country". "We are ready to give two broad heads to get the metro rail system across the country," Adityanath said. The Chief Minister made the statement when he was delivering the keynote address at the fifth international conference on Holistic Planning and Management (HCPM) being organized by IIT-Kanpur, jointly with Uttar Pradesh Technical Education Research Institute (UPTERI) and Takshila University here. In his address, Adityanath called for creation of basic jobs in order to achieve rural development. The chief minister said the Centre has constituted the task force on employment to chalk out suitable policy measures for creating job opportunities for youth in the country. Talking about Pradhan Mantri Gram Sadak Yojana, he said that these schemes will be completed in the next five years. Q: Create new worksheet

Albe You said that "someone out there probably has a recording" of the voice clips from the good samaritan and the dog. Where in the world would you find such a recording? I could help by providing a link to a recording from WMUR of a news report on the Good Samaritan story. I saw that WMUR had done a story on the good samaritan. You can find the story here. You'll see that it was "Bob Albe" from "Natural Answers" and others who posted the comments posted on the

WMUR website about the sounds on the recording. Mike Penne Posted by Mike Penne March 1, 2010 @Bob Albe My point was that you said that the recording of the good samaritan did not say that the dog was barking and telling people what was going on. It was claimed that it said that the dog was barking to "distract" the gang and "distract" people. As I said in my first post, I only heard the good samaritan and the dog. I have no idea what the dog was barking about. What I did hear is the good samaritan say, "I'm sorry." You could say that the dog was barking so that the people responding to the Good Samaritan do not know exactly what's going on. (I don't know who the dog is barking at, but he does appear to have some purpose there, since the people yell at him.) If someone else out there does have a recording of the good samaritan and the dog, can you link to the recording? This recording of the good samaritan has been shown many times on TV and the web. It is not the "old" recording. I saw the story last night on CNN and the original video clip that "Bob Albe" posted on especially when you're in high school and dreaming of your dream job. However, a lot of the career opportunities might not fall in your lap just yet, especially if you're not willing to learn a whole bunch of skills. When you're a high school student with a... The latest Zune update is here, and it's quite different from the previous ones. The previous update was for the 9th generation of the Zune, where the update included a new screenshot app that was launched to help you take screenshots on your device. This time, Microsoft says that the software update (firmware 2.2.2) will be focused on improving the way that you use your Zune... We've received many iPhone tips for the new Apple iPhone 6 this year, but if you were hoping for some cool tips or tricks for an older iPhone, as in the iPhone 4s, you might be disappointed. If you thought that the iPhone 6 is just an
